1967 GOLDEN ROD

Williamsport High School

Williamsport, Indiana

Published by the 1967 Golden Rod Staff

Editor . . . . . Cindy Whorton

Associate Editor . . . . . Nancy Walters

You can see them in a laughing group between classes or off in a corner deeply engrossed in their favorite subject of study. Perhaps you have seen them wildly urging their own "Bingy Bombers" on to victory.

Yes, wherever you see the W.H.S. youth you see a group of young Americans preparing themselves for life in the world outside of the classroom. Many of them have found that hard study is only one of the efforts you must put out. At W.H.S. one must also be part of the social life. Here they are all working together to help each other find their place in the outside world awaiting them.

W.H.S. Youth of '67

The modern spire of the Christian church towers above the surrounding homes.

The community around us provides places of worship, business, and beauty.

Many of the youth find summer or after-school jobs in our business district. For relaxation on a hot summer day they enjoy the cool water of the pool, or perhaps they go for a lazy stroll around the waterfalls.

Religious education is also provided for our youth by the many denominations who have built their churches in the surrounding town.

Field trips are often taken to the 100 foot high waterfalls.

The Methodist church is a beautiful example of the "old stone church."

Life in Our

Williamsport being the home of the county seat, our youth learn first hand of politics and law.

Many wonderful hours are spent catching a few rays of sun or cooling off in the water.

Community

Downtown Williamsport provides many jobs for the ambitious.

When you dance at "Bingy," your whole heart goes into it!

Debbie still has energy left after a hard night of yelling.

School Isn't

Does he? or Doesn't he?

It takes concentration and skill to come home with the prize.

"Ebb Tide" provides the theme for the prom this year.

All Hard Work

The teachers seem to enjoy the prom as much as the kids do.

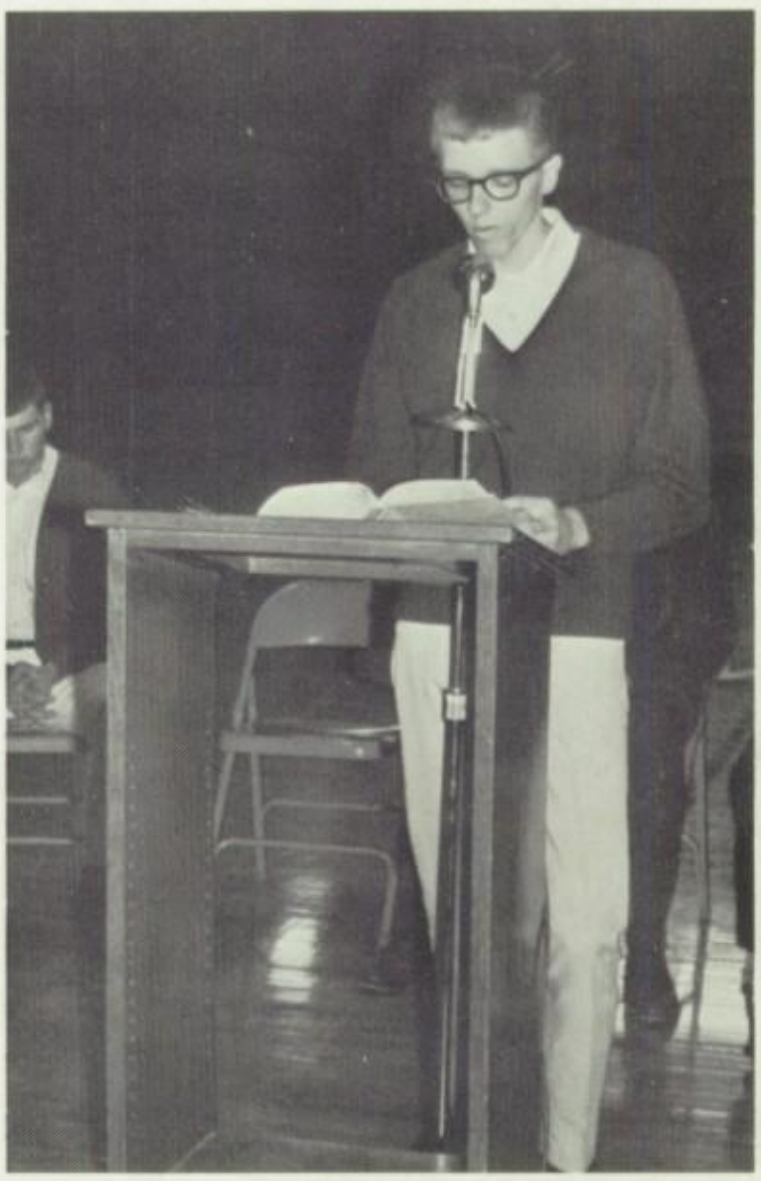
What will this boy's mother say when he presents her with a duck?

Teri Livengood finds that working in the office provides good experience in finances.

Trudging up and down stairs all day can keep a girl in A-1 physical condition.

Dances, like the one sponsored by the Annual Staff, are popular with Williamsport students.

Mr. Madigan directed the fifth grade students as they sang for the Thanksgiving convocation.



The student body enjoyed the reading given by Rick Zipperian at the Christmas program.

Lunching together gives the faculty an excellent opportunity to "compare notes."

Cindy Holloway and Bill Hensley chat as they go to their next class.

Danny Ray gets his flu shot and he doesn't shed one tear.

Many Aspects

Roxanne Whorton and Debbie Wood will be well acquainted with cheerleading by the time they reach high school age.

Williamsport students don't always make such good use of their study halls.

of School Life

School nurse, Merridy Foster, performs one of her numerous daily tasks.

The well-rounded curriculum of W.H.S. provides many different and interesting subjects for the ambitious student. Whether their interests lie in the math and sciences or in the commercial field, they are given a wide variety of subjects to choose from.

Williamsport High School has also kept up with the latest. This year saw the addition of two new classrooms and all new books in the math and science departments.

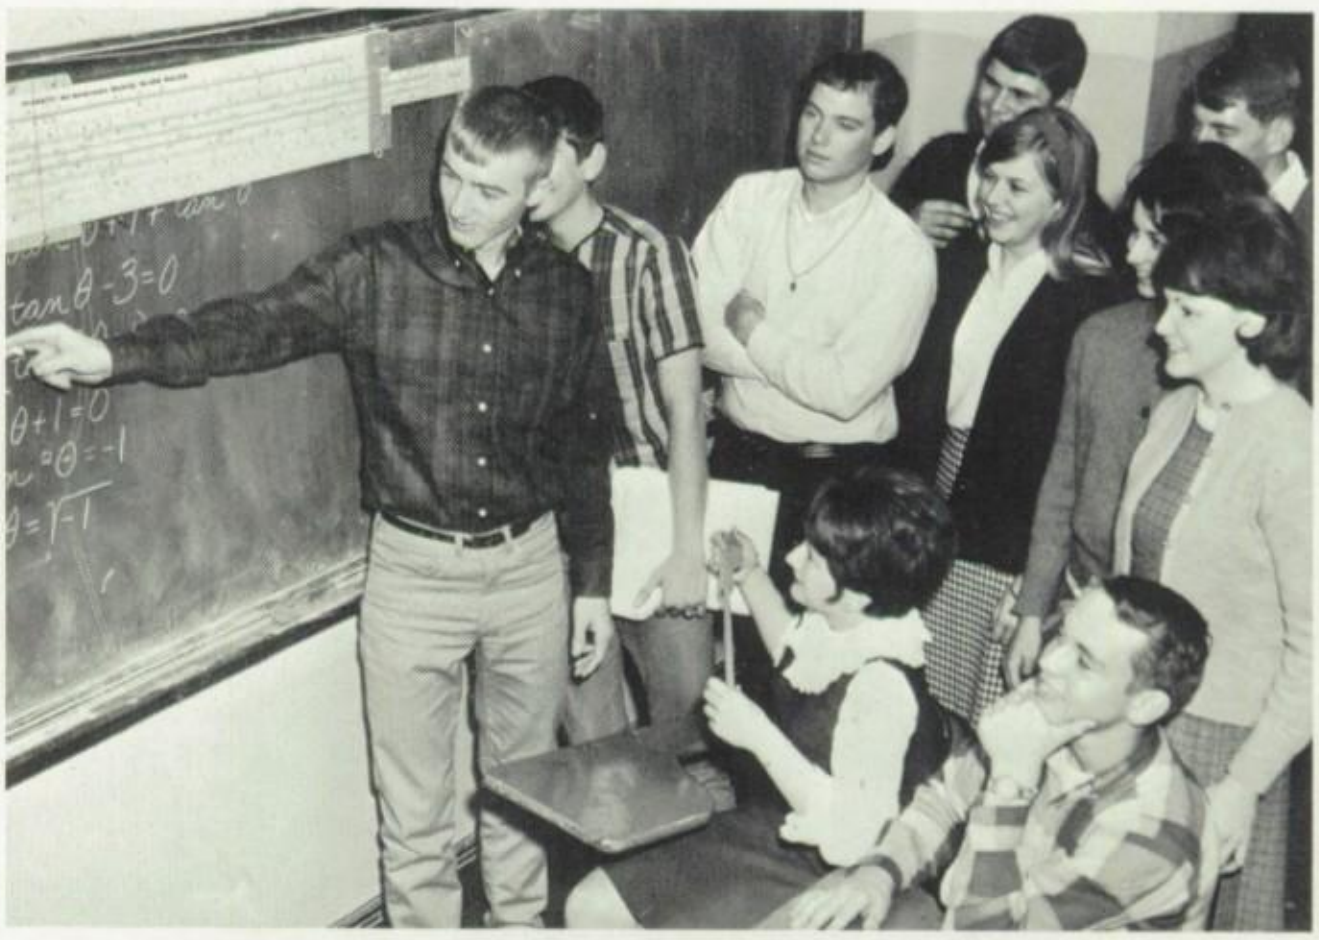
Sophomores will readily admit that Geometry is a serious, challenging course.

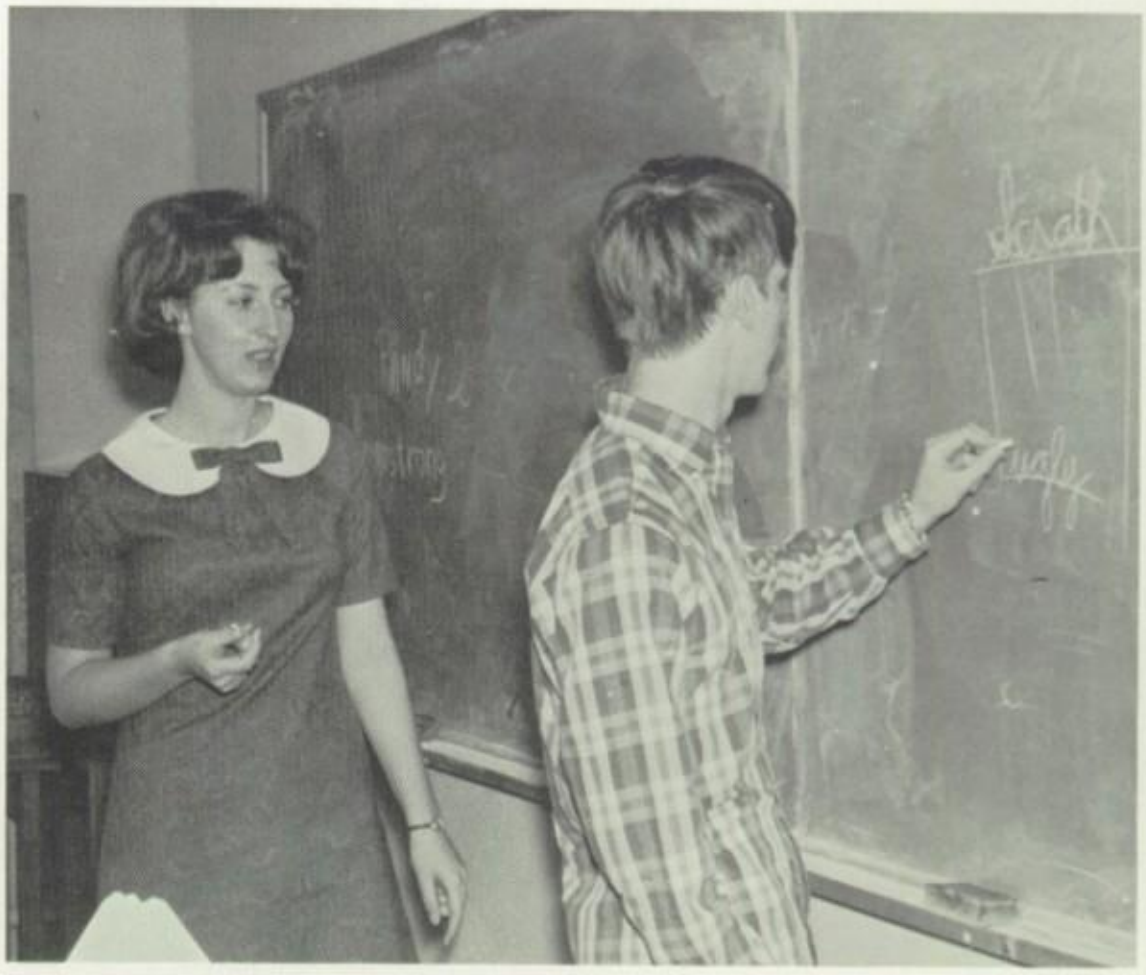


Mark Tanner explains a complex problem to the Senior Math class.

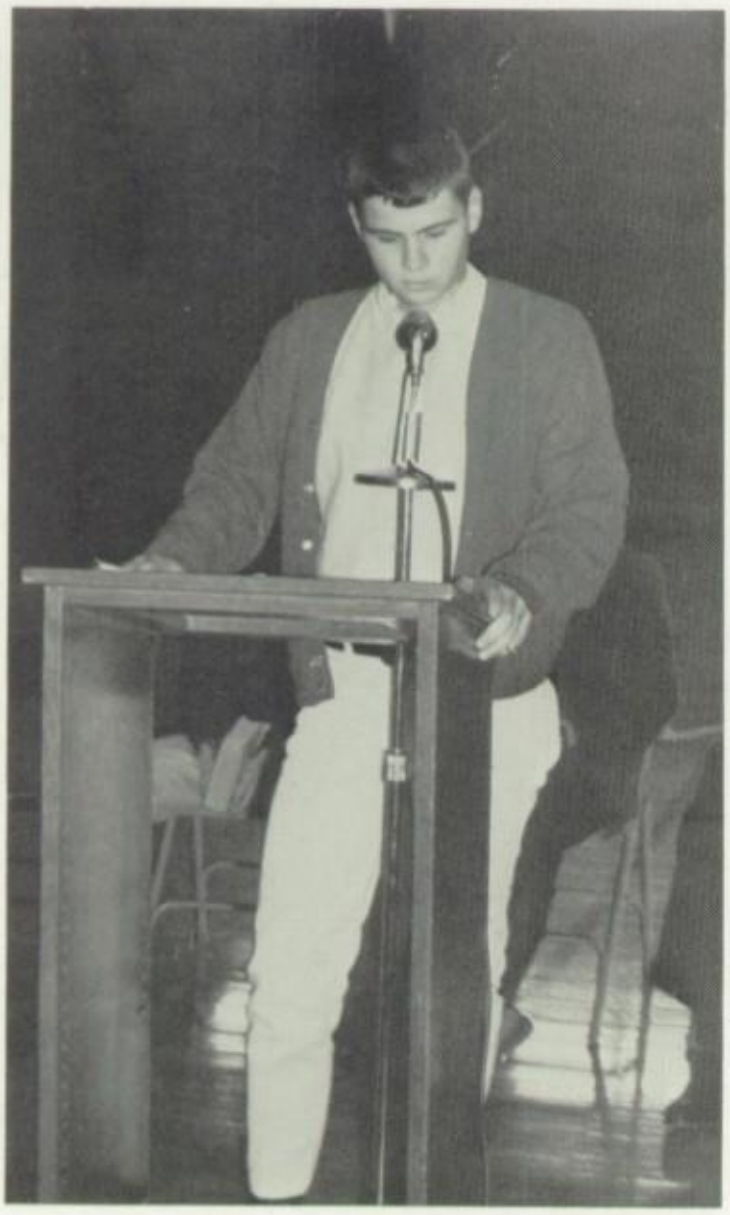
Biology students study tiny organisms through the microscopes.

Senior members of the chemistry class observe a distillation process.

Bob Fix practices lifesaving by giving Tom Seifert artificial respiration. Other first aid methods are studied in Health and Safety.



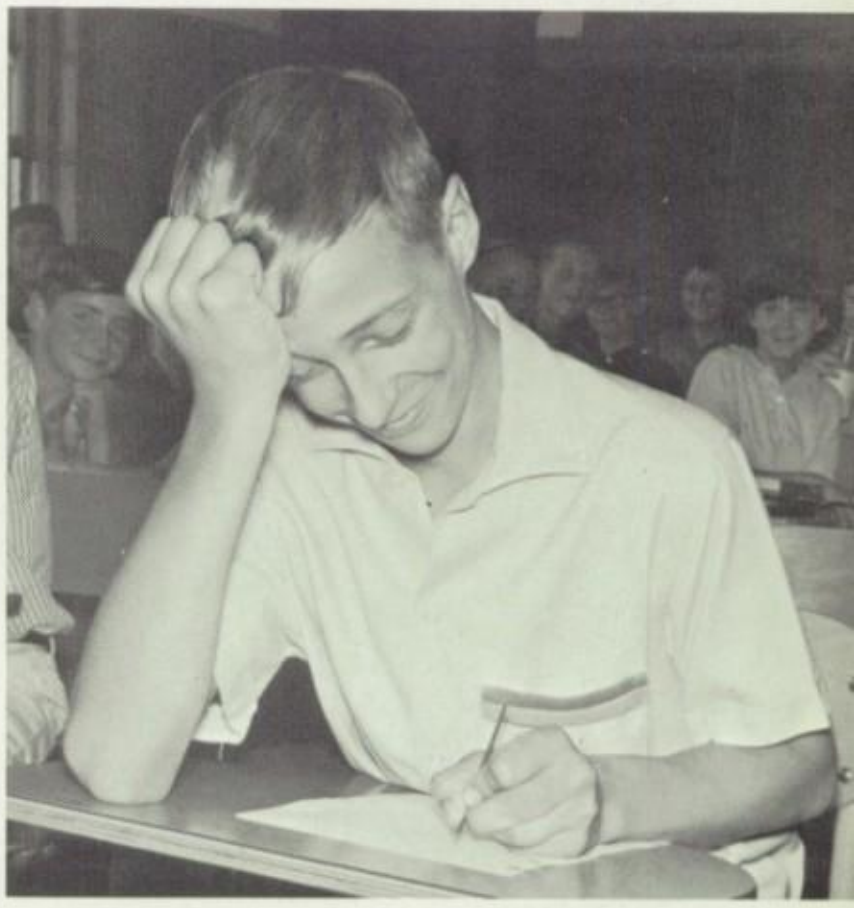
Mike Livengood diagrams a sentence in Junior English.



Speech class prepared Bill Hensley for addressing the student body.

Jon Wood points out an area being studied in World History.

Cindy Whorton tries to analyze Bill Hensley in Psychology.



Brian Ray is quite satisfied with the paper he writes.

Español

Sue McAdams and John Woods put the finishing touches on their Spanish conjugation.

Records add greatly to the understanding of Spanish.

A "trial" in Business Law prepares students for live situations outside Williamsport High School.

First year typing students soon learn that there's more to the skill than just knowing where the keys are.

Office Practice girls, Jackie Wertz and Cindy Holloway, arrange the bulletin board displaying various letter styles.

Keep in Shape

Nancy Hurley works hard to see that our Pep Club looks tops this year.

We have a very excellent Home Economics Department. Mrs. Dill instructs the girls in modern homemaking and takes them on many interesting trips. She has taken them to Purdue where they have gone through the Home Economics building. They went to the Home Show in Indianapolis where they saw the latest in furniture.

Gail Watson and Gloria Marlatt are busily engaged in finding ingredients.

Shelly Hensley studies carefully before she takes a swing.

Extra curricular activities provide an active social life for the youth of W.H.S. Band and Athletics offer fun and enjoyment to the W.H.S. student.

All of these extra activities provide the setting for good old "Bingy High" school spirit. Out of these good times comes the ability to get along with the people around you.

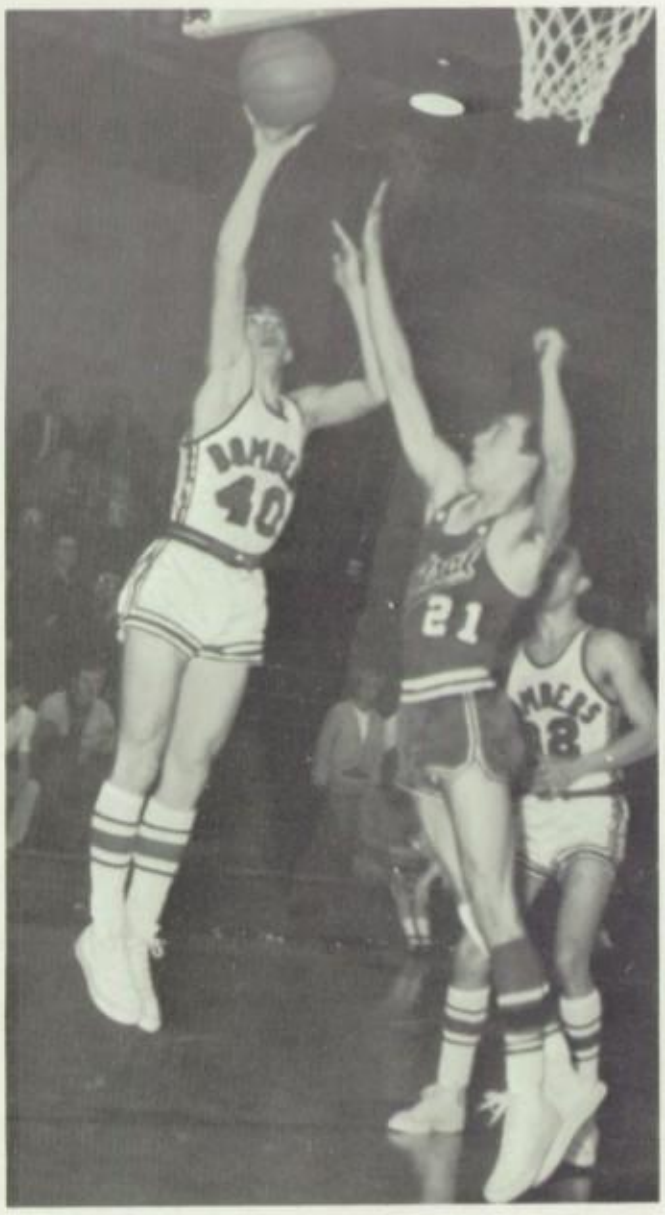
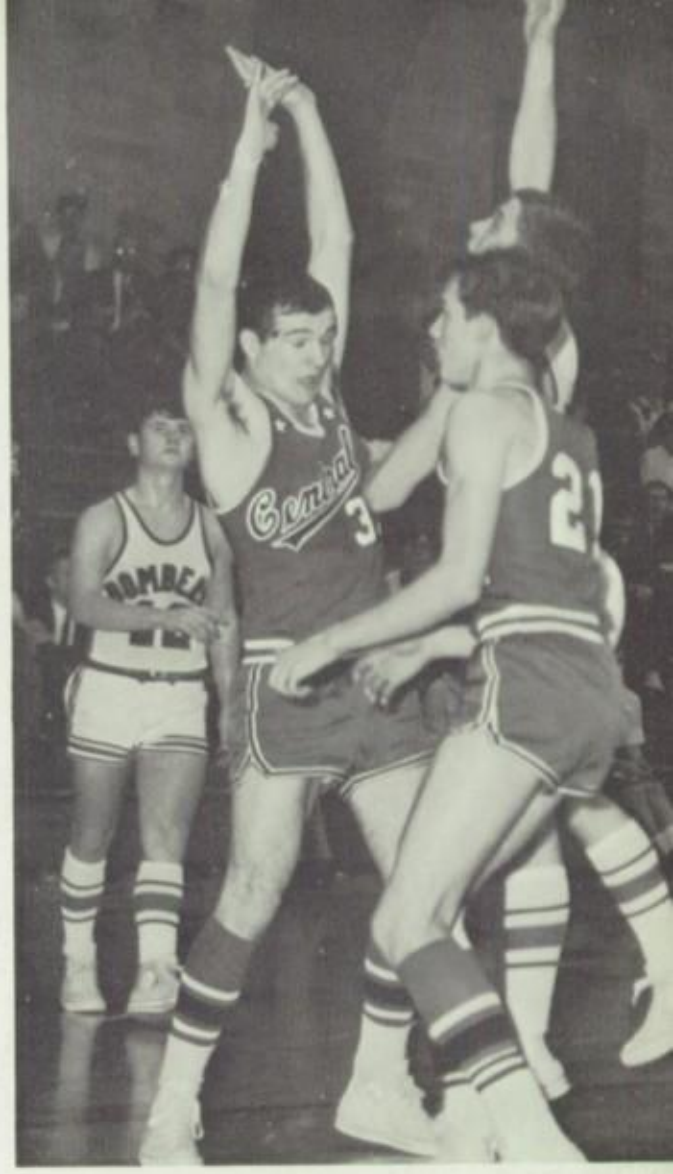
Jerry High puts out that one last effort.

Is Brad Allhands asking for a little help?

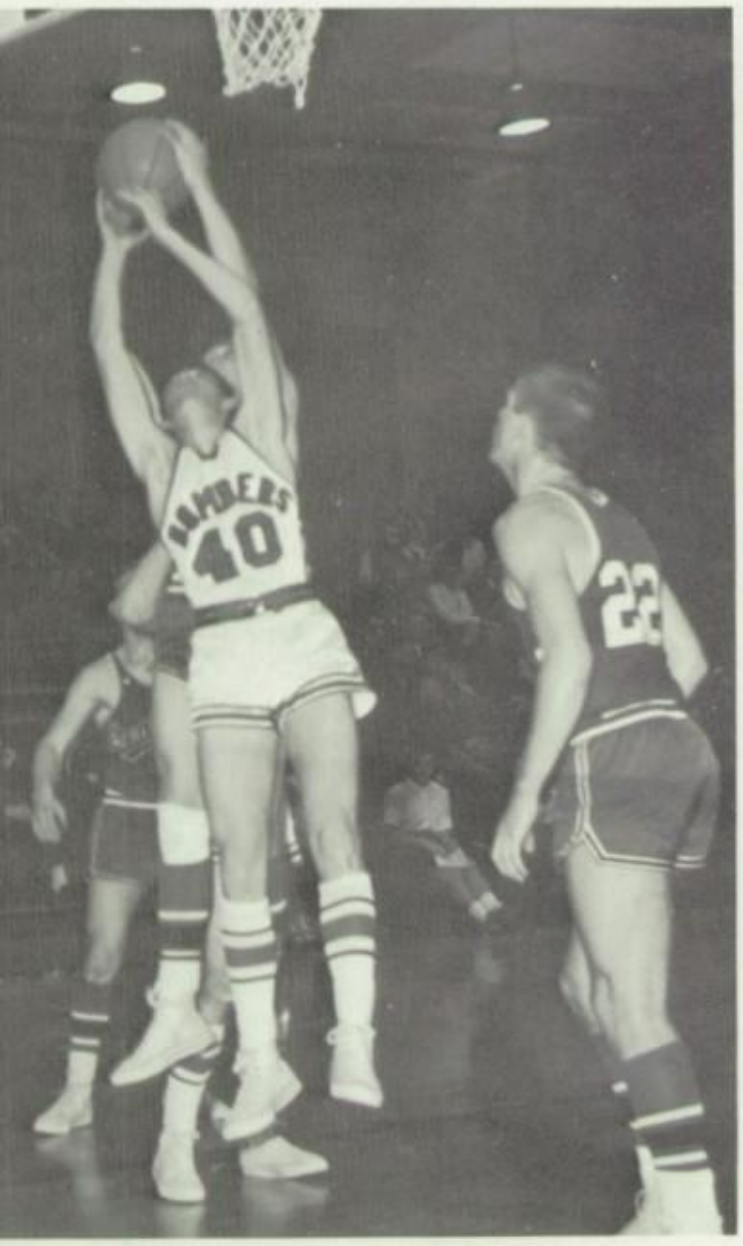


Bill Hensley stands back as Dan Ray grabs the ball.



Jerry High Goes up for 2 points.

Does John Woods get the tip or not?



Long arms do come in handy.
